The education of the blind and partially sighted children of the State is a most worthy cause and the Tennessee School for the Blind at Nashville is asking, though its superintendent, Prof. I. S. Wampler, the co-operation of the State press and public in general in extending the educational advantages of the school to as many of these unfortunates as possible.

All citizens of the State and especially local officials and child welfare organization and worker are asked to report to Prof. Wampler the names of the partially sighted and blind in their communities and to in every way possible toward getting parents and friends interested in taking in taking steps to get eligible pupils in the school. The courses include literary work, vocal and instrumental music, type-writing, manual training, etc. All of these are free, including board, laundry, medical attention and the use of books and instruments.

Prof. Wampler says: "When it is remembered that the totally blind child, lacking in education, is without hope and has no show at all, but that with proper training may become a useful and happy citizen, it is deplorable that through lack of information regarding the advantages that might be obtained, it should be allowed to grow up in ignorance."

Prof. Wampler will be glad to send a catalog to anyone interested or to supply any other information sought in regard to the school.

Hard Storm Sunday Does Much Damage.

A heavy rain, accompanied by a high wind, sweeps over this section of the county late Sunday evening. The storm came from the north, lasting thirty minutes or more, and at least two inches of rain fell. The wind was of high velocity, and without the protection of the hills would have left wreck and ruin in its wake. As it was, considerable damage was done to the corn crops, telephone lines and timber. Several large trees were blown across the highways leading into town and had to be removed before travel could be resumed. In town a large shade tree on the east side of the Tardy Hotel was blown down and large limbs stripped from trees in other sections, while the streets were damaged by the deluge of water that run through them.

The storm covered a territory of 5 or 6 miles in width and several miles long.

H. L. McDearman Elected Mayor.

In the municipal election held last Thursday, H. L. McDearman defeated H. Grady Gore for mayor, 7 votes. T. L. Gist, J. L. McCawley and J. M. Draper were elected aldermen. The vote was light, there being only 65 votes polled. Following is the official vote:

Mayor; H. L. McDearman 35, Gore 28. Alderman; J. M. Draper 65, J. L. McCawley 59, T. L. Gist 44, M. P. Bailey 24. F. L. Tardy and Oliver Spurlock received one vote each, but were not candidates.

Officials of the election were: J. H. Stafford, officer; Mesdames J. L. Reeves and P. J. Anderson Judges; J. C. Reeves and Garland Jackson, clerk. This is the first time that women have served as officials of an election in Gainesboro.

Mrs. Leslie Scott Died Suddenly Sunday Morning.

The sudden death of Mrs. Leslie Scott, age 30, which occurred at her home in the Scott Hollow, 7 miles east of Gainesboro, Sunday morning, July 31st, came as a great shock to her many friends and relatives in that community. Her death came about in a peculiar way. She had not been feeling well for several days, but was able to do her work. She arose at her usual time, prepared breakfast and had gone a short distance from the house to feed her chickens, when she fell in a branch bed. Soon after she left the house, her sister, Martha D. McCoin, heard some one groaning, and going in direction of the noise, found Mrs. Scott unconscious. She immediately summoned help and carried Mrs. Scott to the house, where she died in a few minutes. The supposition is that she died of heart failure.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon by Rev. T. N. Berry, followed by interment in the McCoin cemetery.

The deceased is survived by her husband, two children and a mother, Mrs. Lou McCoin of Cookeville, and sister Martha D. McCoin.

Card of Thanks.

Through the columns of this paper we desire to return our warmest thanks to the citizens of this community for kindness and sympathy extended to us during the illness and death of our beloved daughter, Lyda. While our home now has a vacant chair, yet we reflect upon the many deeds of sympathy and love of our friends in this community, it gives a silver lining to the dark cloud left by death. May the Lord bless you all and spare you such sorrow is our sincere wish.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyton Brown.

Revival Meeting Great Success.

The wonderful revival meeting at the Methodist church, conducted by Dr. Geo. A. Morgan of Pulaska, Tenn., assisted by pastor K. A. Early, came to a close Wednesday night. Prof. W. W. Heckman, song evangelist and chorus leader, of Carthage, conducted the singing, which was an interesting feature of the meeting.

Large congregations listened to Dr. Morgan's forceful presentation of the gospel message from day to day, and much good has come to the church and community from this great man's stay in Gainesboro. He is one the most forceful and convincing Methodist ministers ever held a revival here. On account of his sterling qualities as a Christian gentleman Bro. Morgan has endeared himself to the whole community.

Prof. Heckman, by his splendid singing and leadership in the singing, won the admiration of all the people.

At the close of the meeting five were united with the church and two professed Christ.

Don't stick with the prunes

MY DAD'S favorite yarn.

WAS THE one about.

THE OLD storekeeper.

WHO WAS playing checkers.

IN THE back of the store.

AMONG THE coal oil.

AND THE prunes.

WHEN THE sheriff.

WHO HAD just jumped his king.

SAID "Si there's a customer.

WAITIN' OUT front."

AND SI said "Sh-h-h!

IF YOU'LL keep quiet.

MEBBE HE'LL go away."

NOW HERE'S the big idea.

WHEN A good thing.

HAPPENS ALONG.

DON'T LEAVE it to George.

TO GRAB the gravy.

FRINCEANCE IF.

YOU HEAR of a smoke.

OR READ about a smoke.

THAT REALLY does more.

THAN PLEASE the taste.

THERE ARE no hooks on you.

THERE'S NO law against.

YOUR STEPPING up.

WITH THE other live ones.

AND SAYING right out.

IN A loud, clear voice.

"GIMME A pack of,

THOSE CIGARETTES.

THAT SATISFY."

YOU'LL say you never tasted such flavor, such mild but full-bodied tobacco goodness. You're right, too, because they don't make other cigarettes like Chesterfields. The Chesterfield blend can't be copied.
